

Mathematics Section

Barbara Bissell

Barbara Bissell became the Mathematics Section Chief for DPI in October 2010. Prior experience includes 12 years in Central Office in Charlotte, a number of years as a classroom teacher grades 3 – 7, and work with the AFT in Oakland, California. Her teaching career began as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Kampala, Uganda.

Kitty Rutherford

Kitty Rutherford is an Elementary Mathematics Consultant with the NC Department of Public Instruction. She is a former classroom teacher with over 20 years of teaching experience. As part of her work, she supports elementary (K-5) teachers and administrators with effective instructional and assessment practices. A graduate of East Carolina University where she earned her B.S. in Early Childhood Education, M.A. in Elementary Education, Reading Certification, and Academically Gifted Certification. She recently completed an Elementary Mathematics Add-On Licensure from The University of North Carolina-Greensboro.

Amy Scrinzi

Amy Scrinzi is an Elementary Mathematics Consultant with the NC Department of Public Instruction. As part of her work, she supports teachers and administrators with effective instructional and assessment practices with a special passion for early childhood mathematics. A graduate of James Madison University and Bank Street College of Education, Amy recently received her Ed.D in Curriculum and Instruction from The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She is a former classroom teacher, having taught preschool through third grade.

Robin Barbour

Robin Barbour spent the first 22 years of her career as a mathematics and science classroom teacher. During this time she earned her National Board Certification, her AIG certification and her Masters in Middle School Mathematics Education from UNC. She was recognized as the Outstanding Secondary Mathematics Teachers for Durham County in 2007. Robin came to the NC Department of Public Instruction in January 2008, as a Secondary Mathematics Consultant, specializing in Middle School Mathematics.

Johannah Mayor

Johannah Mayor is a Secondary Mathematics Consultant with the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. As part of her work, she supports teachers and administrators with effective instructional and assessment practices. She also holds a major role in the implementation of Integrated Mathematics and the development of NCFALCON. Johannah has a B.S. in Mathematics and a MEd in Curriculum and Instruction. Having been a classroom teacher for 15 years, her last appointment was teaching Calculus and Integrated Mathematics in the Public Schools of North Carolina.

